

Please let Indiana keep the current "No Call Law". Telemarketing calls defeat the purpose of private/business telephone lines. They cut in on family/business time. They deprive me of my rights of privacy as an Indiana citizen to determine who I speak to on my own telephone line. Telemarketers can find enough other ways to advertise and get customers, they do not need to bother me at home in the evening or on weekends. I used to receive at least 5 telemarketing calls a week. That is ridiculous!! Thanks for your consideration on this matter.
